

Portland Sept. 17. 79

Prof. Jas. W. Marsh,
Forest Grove.

My dear Sir:

My Rheumatism
has quite disabled me, shall require some treatment that I cannot have at the Grove in order not to have a really serious affair of it.
Had supposed it was nothing but a little matter of Malarial trouble, and that Doctor Craig might help me out with a little medicine.

However I have pushed some University matters with Doctor Atkinson and as shall endeavor to make the most of ^{my} time, out of bed, here in Portland, tell.

I do not now know why next Mondays train can not bring me back to Forest Grove.

Very truly Yours,

M. C. Wilkinson.
