

SENIORS NOW HOLD KEY TO BOXER'S HIDING PLACE

Seniors Lament Loss of Their Bronze Idol, Embodiment of P. U. Pep

NEW GUARDIANS HAVE ALREADY GIVEN THE DOG SEVERAL AIRINGS. YOU MAY SEE HIM AT MOST UNUSUAL TIMES AND PLACES

Many times in the history of Pacific University great excitement has been caused by the appearance of Boxer, but it has been long since such enthusiasm was manifest by a class, as was shown three week ago Monday night (the week before vacation) and the day following when the Sophomores fought for, hunted and won all three parts of the famous emblem of P. U.'s spirit.

It did not happen altogether accidentally as some have thought. Others besides Sophs saw Boxer when he was displayed at Herrick Hall, but Sophs alone pursued and Tuesday morning that class was the only one represented in the search for the head and tail.

After showing Boxer several times on the campus the three Senior boys in charge took him over to Brown's. Al Snyder and Red Sheeley, on seeing an automobile stop in front of the house, thought it might be that containing Boxer and his guards, so fol-

So it happened that the class of '23 now has Boxer—but the story does not end there.

Tuesday night Boxer was successfully displayed at Herrick and many attempted pursuit, but by a trick were led in another direction and the Sophs made good their flight.

On Thursday night during the vacation seven Sophs with Boxer made a fifteen minute call at the Herrick dining room. From there they went to Shearer's and Allen's confectioneries and later to Portland.

Ralph Walker was summoned with his car from the city early in the evening and he took six other members of the class with him. When they left at Portland was an Alumni banquet and Boxer was received with enthusiasm by the former students.

Harold Seiler made a short speech telling how the Sophs won Boxer and what it means to the class.

Sunday afternoon twelve members of the class took Boxer not far from town and as several cameras were present a number of pictures were taken.

The Sophs intend to guard well the valuable Dog with his wealth of traditions of old P. U., yet by allowing us the opportunity of a few glimpses of the Spirit which has fallen into their keeping.
